“I have a 6 year old Quarter Horse mare named Peggy who I’ve owned for about 2 fi years. She spent the whole first year I owned her at the trainers, who fortunately let me use my own Pelleted Grain Ration and TNT, though they fed more alfalfa than I liked. Since I brought her home she’s been on the full DYNAMITE® program. I noticed early on this last summer that her manure smelled particularly pungent and unpleasant. It almost had a metallic odor and I could smell it from quite some distance away. Knowing that she’d had quite a bit of vaccinations and worming in her past, I elected to put her on a 30 day Excel cleanse. I’m happy to report that her manure smells quite normal, and not only that, but her coat looks shinier and darker. She also has dapples for the first time that I can remember. I was very pleased with the results of the cleanse.

On another note, I rode her a bit less this summer than I had the previous two years and I felt her topline was looking a bit underdeveloped. I put her on a cup of H.E.S. a day (along with a cup of Pelleted Grain Ration, her DYNAMITE® supplements, etc.) and I feel like her topline has filled out nicely, despite her lack of work.”
